

is on the assumption of an ordinance grant which would adequately safeguard the required investment.

To take up negotiations for the purchase of any property by the city of Chicago, it should be understood that the position of the management on the question of the purchase price is the same as that stated by the bankers' committee in their letter to the corporation council Sept. 1, 1934, and that the final answer as to the acceptance of these conditions lies with our security holders.

Mayor Firm for City Purchase.
Purchase price was the stumbling block on which the recent negotiations tipped. After the aldermen had noted the outsiders, many of them said the Bueby letter, after all, was not offering something for nothing. They said it looked like a shrewd move by the south side lines to line up with the mayor on the kind of city built rapid transit that would be of most advantage to them, incidentally staying a money wrench into the subway suggestions of their rivals, Mr. Insull's "L" lines.

Mayor Dever himself withheld comment until he has made full analysis of the $9,000 word message. Mayor Dever stood firm in his belief in municipal ownership of the surface and elevated lines and unification of transportation agencies. He set forth his theory of a comprehensive plan of traction settlement, through acquisition by the city of the surface and elevated lines.

Traction Fund as Weapon.
He expressed the conviction that the city alone should own, control, and operate subways. The traction fund of $40,000,000, however, which is available for subway building, is regarded by the mayor as "the strongest weapon to compel a complete and permanent settlement of the traction problem."

In brief, the mayor is still for handling the traction question as a whole, just as it has been handled for twenty years, instead of cutting a subway out of the jumble and treating it separately. He urged further efforts to negotiate for the purchase of the surface and elevated lines.

If that fails, he recommends that the city build a rapid transit system, subways and elevated. Maj. R. F. Keller has prepared a physical plan for such a system. It contemplates a two track subway in Clark street from Chicago avenue to Polk street, with "L" lines built at both ends.

Laughs at Insull Plan.
The Blair plan and the Insull plan, the mayor's plan and the Bueby plan make four proposals now before the transportation committee, which starts work this afternoon. In his message Mayor Dever accused Mr. Insull's plan of calling for forty miles of "L" extensions to cost $25,000,000 and a four mile subway in Clark street to be built by the city or by the company if the city will give authority.

The mayor said he doubted whether the "L" lines could raise the money for such extensions, while as to Mr. Insull's offer to build a subway if the city declines, "it cannot be taken seriously."

The mayor said in the last thirty years the elevated and "L" lines have granted franchises to build 132 miles of elevated railroad.

"Sixty miles of structure have been built," he says. "Seventy-two have not been built."

TEACHER BALKS AT ORDERS AND IS SUSPENDED

Miss Ida C. Calhoun, a teacher at the Wadsworth school, 6429 University avenue, was suspended on Oct. 14 by Supt. McAndrew, according to his notice to the school board yesterday. He charged insubordination, reporting that she refused to perform extra duty outside of regular class hours as assigned to her by the principal, Frank Mayo.

This duty consisted of supervision of children in the school yard from 1:45 to 3 o'clock in the morning—a matter of fifteen minutes—and was a task which related among the teachers, the superintendent said.

When Miss Calhoun's case reached the school trial board, it was intimated yesterday, she will be supported by the Teachers' Federation.

In his report the superintendent said Miss Martha V. Bishop, district superintendent, had told him the teacher was insubordinate and had repeatedly refused to perform the extra duty. Further, he stated, he had a signed statement from Miss Calhoun, relating her refusal.

MAYOR HOPES TO UNIFY SURFACE AND "L" LINES AND DIG SUBWAY

BY WILLIAM LAWSON.

Purchase by the city of the surface and elevated lines and their linking together in a central district subway is the only solution of Chicago's transportation problem, Mayor Dever told the city council in a special traction message yesterday.

To that end, the mayor urged the aldermen to negotiate with the owners of the lines to obtain terms more favorable than he was able to get in more than a year's effort.

If they fail, also, the aldermen should promptly agree on plans for the construction of a municipal independent elevated-subway rapid transit system. Some proposal to increase and improve transportation must be submitted to the voters in the February election, he said.

Denounces Utility Companies.
The message denounced the surface and elevated lines alike as contract breakers and cautioned the aldermen against faith in their promises to make extensions and other service improvements after the city has spent its $40,000,000 traction fund for a subway system in which they might operate.

Nothing in the past performance warrants serious consideration of the offers of Samuel Insull and Henry A. Blair, heads respectively of the elevated and surface lines, to join with the city in the development of rapid transit facilities, according to the message.

Grave doubt as to the ability of the "L" lines to finance its proposed extensions or build the downtown subway it suggested caused the mayor to recommend the rejection of Mr. Insull's applications for franchises for new lines.

What Dever Wants Done.
Marking back to his message of July 2, 1932, the mayor reiterated his belief that a solution of the city's traction problem involved the following major points:

1. Development of a comprehensive, unified system, affording rapid, comfortable transportation for the outlying districts where service is now poor or nonexistent; relieving congestion in the central business district and providing rapid transit routes which will enable the car riders to go from one side of the city to another without going through the central business district.

The lowest fare possible, consistent with good service, adequate wages and just working conditions for the employees, and without imposing any additional burden on the taxpayers; and Restoration to Chicago of "home rule" over its transportation facilities.

How He'd Reach Goal.
That solution, he declared in yesterday's message, will be found in a settlement which includes:

1. Unification of the existing services.

2. The building of subways, so far as the city's means will permit.

3. The building of many miles of "L" extensions; and

4. A financial plan which will insure the building of further extensions as they are required by the city's growth.

"This service," the message continued, "should be rendered at the lowest possible cost and at no profit in order that a reasonable rate of fare can be maintained. The settlement should be of such a basis as to permit the car riders to go from one side of the city to another without going through the central business district.

Found Bankers Favorable.
In my opinion a comprehensive settlement producing these results can now be brought about only by the acquisition of the existing surface and elevated properties by the city through the use of the special bonds already described and by the immediate building of subways by the city to be operated in conjunction with those properties so acquired by the city.

"The negotiations to which I have heretofore referred demonstrated that this plan was entirely feasible and practicable, not only from the viewpoint of the city but from that of the bankers interested in these properties, and that the plan could be carried out if only the city and the security holders could agree upon a purchase price."

"For that reason, I believe that further efforts should be made to bring about an agreement for the sale of the surface and elevated properties to the city at a fair price in special bonds."

City's Line as Alternative.
"If, however, it becomes clear that a settlement cannot be brought about on that basis because the persons holding the securities of the private companies cannot agree with the city on a fair price, then it seems to me that the city will obtain the largest measure of substantial relief in the shortest time through the immediate building by the city of a rapid transit system, including subways, to supplement the existing services by the surface and elevated lines."

This system, the mayor said, should be planned to avoid duplicating the service now rendered by the surface and elevated companies and to permit coordination of their facilities with the city's if any or all of the lines are acquired by the city. He contended that the city's system should be capable of extension as rapidly as the city's financial condition will permit.

"The crying need of this community for improved and extended transportation facilities prompts me to urge your committee on local transportation to immediately convene for the consideration of this important problem," the report continues.

Reviews His Negotiations.
"Because of its complexity, it is in my opinion, imperative that such recommendations as your committee may make be transmitted to the council in ample time to be submitted to a referendum at the general election next February."

The mayor sketched his unsuccessful negotiations which terminated in the refusal of the Surface Lines' owners to take less than $125,000,000 and the insistence of the elevated lines on more than $30,000,000, the value fixed by the state commerce commission a few years ago.

Study and past experience have demonstrated the futility of such alternatives as have been suggested for the comprehensive solution of the problem, the mayor declared. A plan similar to that defeated by a popular vote in 1914 would be equally unsuccessful now, he asserted.

Finds Companies Unreliable.
"The experience of Chicago under private grants has proven that it is unwise to rely on the promises of private companies to maintain a continuous program of transportation development," the mayor continued.

"The private companies have invariably been able to evade the obligations requiring a high standard of service. Definite provisions for extensions have been ignored or defeated by the intersection of new legislation or excused on the basis of changed financial and economic conditions. If our traction experience has taught us anything it is that no franchise can be devised which will compel continuous good service and the building of adequate extensions."

"The Chicago Surface Lines ordinances of 1927-28 contained provisions for maintaining a high standard of service and for building of not less than twenty-three miles of single track extensions a year. These provisions were skillfully drawn in explicit terms by able counsel, and since the tenth year of the life of these ordinances the surface lines companies have not built as much as one year's quota of extensions."

"L" Companies' Record Woes.
"The elevated companies have been even more remiss. They have built no additions in Chicago since 1903, despite the fact that many years ago they were granted franchises authorizing them to build extensions in many portions of the city where elevated rapid transit has been and is now a necessity."

"This record demonstrated that applications for the building of extensions, and even contract ordinances for their construction, are not necessarily to be taken as assurances that such extensions will be built."

"What Chicago needs is not more franchises, but more miles of track."

"The building of subways is one of the most important elements in the solution of the traction problem. Subways so planned as to aid materially the proper development of a comprehensive system of local transportation should be constructed at the earliest possible moment."

Financial Problem Attacked.
"Chicago has $40,000,000 in its traction fund, which could be devoted to subway construction. Through the use of special assessments under the present law this amount could probably be increased to $70,000,000 or $80,000,000. There are no other funds available for subway construction, and no additional money for the purpose could, in my opinion, be raised under existing law except in connection with the extension and development of a soundly planned and financed municipal system."

"With the $70,000,000 or $80,000,000 between twelve and eighteen miles of double track subways could be built, depending on their location. Obviously, the building of such a limited amount of subways will not alone solve our present local transportation problem, which is to afford adequate transportation and rapid transit to all portions of the city."

Argues for Keller Plan.
"Subways are also included as an integral part of the plan just submitted by your local transportation committee by its engineer. That plan has many commendable features and merits your careful study."

"The subways included in that plan should be capable of redesigning to make available the maximum amount of space for truckage in order to provide facilities, not only for the prepared municipally owned system, but also for expansion of that system."

"It is my conviction that the city alone should own, control and operate subways. There is, in my opinion, no possibility of either the Chicago Rapid Transit company or the Chicago Surface Lines financing the cost of any considerable subway construction because the resultant increase in their fixed charges without a proportionate increase in revenue would impose an additional burden upon them which they could not carry."

Traction Fund as Weapon.
"The traction fund is one of the city's strongest weapons to compel a complete and permanent settlement of traction difficulties. To surrender this weapon in exchange for such temporary advantage as may be derived by operating existing services through a few miles of downtown subways is, in my opinion, so obviously unwise as to merit no consideration."

In conclusion, the mayor urged the council to consider the feasibility of financing subway construction by use of the $40,000,000 traction fund and special assessment against benefited property. Detroit voters recently approved special proceedings to construct subways and the plan is employed in New York to provide funds for the extension of its rapid transit facilities, he pointed out.

ONTARIO VOTES TODAY ON FATE OF PROHIBITION

May Wipe Out Canada's Last "Dry" Spot.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—The voters of Ontario will decide tomorrow whether the province is to remain under prohibition or the government is to be entrusted with the power of dispensing malt and spirituous liquors in sealed packages from public dispensaries.

The result will have more than provincial significance. A decisive majority for or against prohibition will settle the fate of liquor legislation in British North America for a generation, if not for all time.

Ontario is the pivotal province of Canada. Bounded on the west by Quebec, where the Latin genius of the French Canadian has never permitted legislative interference with the rights of the individual or the family, and on the west by the solid block of the three prairie provinces and British Columbia, where prohibition has been tried and has been discarded, Ontario remains the bulwark of the forces looking to maintain prohibition in the future of the continent. If Ontario reverses its decision of 1911, then the dominion may be regarded as definitely wet for at least a decade. The verdict of the province, which is the most important industrially and the largest by area and population in Canada, will be of overwhelming importance as far as the future of prohibition in the dominion is concerned.

Two Questions Before Voters.

There are two questions on the ballot which the voters will mark tomorrow. The first is, "Are you in favor of the continuance of the Ontario temperance act?" The second is, "Are you in favor of the sale as a beverage of beer and spirituous liquors under government control?"

Voters must put a cross against the question to which they give assent. Two crosses will spoil a ballot. This form of ballot was arranged after a conference between the prime minister and the leaders of the wet and dry forces, respectively, and has been held to be fair by both parties to the controversy.

The campaign which closed tonight has been marked with exceptional bitterness, and on the eve of the opening of the polls the result is in doubt. Supporters of the present prohibition system in the province are confident of victory and are generally feeling much more certain of the result than are their opponents.

Went Dry by 467,000.

Several new factors have to be taken into account, however, since Ontario last decided whether prohibition should stay in force. That was in 1911, when there was a majority of 101,800 votes for the Ontario temperance act.

The chief new factor is the appearance of the Moderation league, an organization which, owing to the character and standing of its officials, cannot be characterized as a creation of the liquor interests. The president is L. F. Hellmuth, one of the leading king's counsel of the province, while the treasurer, who signed an appeal to the public to subscribe to the campaign fund of the organization, is Gordon Oiler, a son of a family which has given Ontario a chief justice, several outstanding financiers, and men of business, and a physician of international fame.

The dry forces are headed by the Rev. T. Albert Moore, who is head of the Social and Moral Reform council, and is otherwise identified with many of the social activities of the Protestant churches of the province.

"STOP TALKING—START DIGGING"

Chicago's aldermen and mayor are shown in session in the city hall. The photo was taken after Mayor Dever's 9,000 word message on the traction problem had been received by the city fathers. "Stop talking and start digging" was the dominant note, it is said, at the session.

Both Sides Watch Vote Lists.

Both sides have had batteries of orators touring the province during the last few weeks, while during the preparation of the voters' lists each of the organizations had agents canvassing and attending before the judges entrusted with the tasks of preparing these lists.

The results of this latter activity has been strange. In some cities the voters' lists have been swollen to a length altogether at odds with the official census of the place, showing that many citizens have been placed more than once on the lists, thus leaving a loophole for possible irregular voting tomorrow. Each side, under the provisions of the election act, has named poll supervisors and scrutineers and any attempts at impersonation will doubtless be closely checked up.

Country Districts Apathetic.

While the campaign has been one of considerable bitterness, there has been an almost entire absence of personalities and both sides appear to be ready to face a verdict on the merits of their case.

In the country districts there appears to prevail an apathetic feeling towards the matter which was not formerly the case. Ontario has remained dry so far by the vote of the rural sections, the cities and larger towns returning wet majorities. There is little doubt that rural Ontario will again vote dry, but the Moderation league is confident that the greatly increased majority for government sale from the urban centers will wipe out the farmers' votes.

There is also the women's vote to consider. The drys confidently anticipate getting a high proportion of this vote, but the Moderation league, which has a women's section headed by Lady Falconbridge, widow of a former chief justice of the province, has not neglected this vital factor.

Premier Ready to Act.

The professional politicians are in doubt as to the outcome, although the prime minister of the province, T. Howard Ferguson, has let some of his supporters know that should there be a decisive wet majority he would immediately call a session of the legislature to repeal the Ontario temperance act and replace it with provision for government sale of liquor.

Woman Charges Wife Defamed Her.

A suit for $50,000 damages for defamation of character was filed against Mrs. Freda Langer, 2356 West Madison street, in the Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Caroline Lerschfeld, 2448 Lexington avenue.

The suit arises from a suit filed last week by Mrs. Langer, asking for $25,000 and charging Mrs. Lerschfeld with stealing the affections of Julius Langer, 61 years old, a machinist's helper.

Mrs. Langer had charged that her husband was living at Mrs. Lerschfeld's home at 2448 Lexington street. In an interview the wife said her husband was not working, but gave her $10 a month, which was given him by Mrs. Lerschfeld.

Mrs. Lerschfeld in her suit denies Mrs. Langer's statements and says Mr. Langer though not holding a steady position makes money doing odd jobs for her. She says she always has had a good reputation in her neighborhood and has been damaged by the accusations made by Mrs. Langer.

Mrs. Langer, she says, has come to her home and has gone to neighbors along Lexington street, making accusations about her husband and Mrs. Lerschfeld. None of the accusations, according to Mrs. Lerschfeld, is true.

Langer and Mrs. Langer were separated in June, the suit filed yesterday states.

Women who will help in this work are asked to communicate with headquarters at once."

WELL GOES DRY; MILKMAN SELLS WATER TO CITY

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 22.—The village of Lemont, ten miles north of here, with a population of 3,000, is without a common water supply. Its city well, which supplied 350,000 gallons daily, is "dry."

Eight gallon cans full of water are peddled at 25 cents each and the regular milkman, Louis Bederman, is kept busy hauling water from his farm to his customers in the city.

Today, while worried mothers and housewives filled buckets, pans and various kitchen utensils at private wells and springs and the public schools remained closed, workmen were busy laying 6,000 feet of 6-inch pipe to tap an emergency supply from the old Ludwig quarry, one mile north of Lemont.

Meanwhile, for fear of typhoid or other diseases, Dr. Ludwig, city health officer, has issued a bulletin to every home in the city, cautioning them against drinking any sort of water without boiling it for at least twenty minutes.

BLOOD FROM ARM OF WOMAN SAVES STARVING CHILD

San Bernardino, Cal., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—How a 60 year old woman, crippled by an auto spill over a cliff, spent three days beside the body of her husband nursing a flicker of life in a 5 year old girl by gashing a wrist so the child could suck life giving blood was told this afternoon.

The woman is Mrs. T. O. Kelly of San Bernardino, Cal. Her husband was killed when his motor tumbled 100 feet off the steep mountain road into Oak Flat canyon. The 5 year old girl, Meredith Waterbury of Hollywood, is Mrs. Kelly's niece.

Woman and Child Badly Hurt.

At the hospital today it was said that the lot has good chance to recover despite a broken wrist and other pathetic wounds. The 50 year old heroine will also recover, doctors state. Her body was covered with wounds. She was almost speechless from fruitless shouts to attract the attention of motorists on the road above and was delirious from suffering and exposure.

The car became unmanageable when climbing the stiff grade on the Arrow

Head road on Sunday evening and all were plunged over the canyon. Mrs. Kelly saw her husband die in intense pain more than a day later. She could do nothing to help him.

Forces Fought Within 200 Feet.

Meanwhile forces were passing within 200 feet of the broken figures, but above them on the road too far to hear cries. This morning, T. O. Kelly, son of the couple heard faint cries and was first to reach his father's body.

All would have been dead in another night. Gipsy, a fox terrier which fell with the car and for three days barked distress by the huddled form of his silent master, accompanied the body to the undertaking parlor. It took ten hours to find any one to break the news of Mrs. Kelly's critical plight to her mother.

WOMAN KILLED SELF.

A coroner's jury yesterday said Mrs. Clemencia Gillett, who died of abdominal pains in her apartment at 619 Hyde park boulevard Tuesday night, killed herself while depressed.

TELLS HORRORS OF PANDER CASE TO BEAT SMALL

Brennan Reads Judge's
Letter on Cusick Pardon

BY PARKE BROWN.
George E. Brennan, Democratic national committeeman, told a large meeting of party workers at Musician's hall yesterday that he had another chapter to add to the history of the famous Cusick (Quick) pardon case.

Then he proceeded to read the official statement sent to the pardon authorities at Springfield by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, trial judge in the case, filed as required by law but, according to Brennan, suppressed by Gov. Len Small's administration.

Asks Voters a Question.

"In God's name, men and women," he shouted, "do you mean to say in the face of this damning evidence that you are going to stand idly by and let that beast continue as governor of the state of Illinois?"

Judge Fisher's letter to the department of public welfare was in answer to a request for it from the department. It was Judge Fisher who had sentenced Harry and Alma Cusick to a year in the Bridewell. When the trial court was asked for a statement, because a pardon then was under consideration, neither of the defendants had served a day. Neither defendant ever saw the inside of the Bridewell, for the sentences were commuted.

POLITICAL NOTES

Congressman John G. Cooper of Ohio will speak tomorrow night under the auspices of the Republican national committee at Car Man's hall, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street. He was successively a steel mill worker, a locomotive fireman, and engineer, and was holding the last position when elected to congress.

Tickets for the Charles Bryan Hughes mass meeting at the Auditorium next Tuesday, which is intended to be one of the high spots of the Republican local campaign, will be ready for distribution at the Hamilton club today.

Clarence Darrow, defender of Loeb and Leopold, will speak for La Follette at a Monday meeting in the Olympic theater tomorrow. Senator Burton K. Wheeler will speak at the same place Saturday night. Dudley Field Malone will preside at the Wheeler meeting. Wheeler speaks at Rockford Saturday night and at Springfield Monday night.

Mrs. George A. McKinnock has undertaken to organize county "Independent" Sprague for Senator" clubs throughout the state. Her headquarters are in room 314 Hotel Sherman.

The Forty-second Ward Workers' club will give a banquet at the North Side Turner hall tonight for Herbert G. Immenhausen, nominee for the Municipal court on the Republican ticket.

"forthwith," before their cases finally were disposed of in the courts.

"The evidence disclosed that a young girl, 18 years old, coming from some small town in this state," Judge Fisher wrote, "and working somewhere in Evanston, I believe, was taken by a man to the place of the defendants; that Alma Cusick instructed her how to conduct the business of prostitution, how to collect the money from men, and assigned some one to help her dress properly; that this girl did carry on the business of prostitution in the place of the defendants, known as the 'Roamer inn'; that she had a certain sum of money; that the money was turned over to Harry Cusick; that one-half of the money thus collected, if I recall correctly, $151, was kept by the Cusicks as their part of the profit resulting from the prostitution of this girl, and that the other $151, being the one-half she was supposed to receive, the said Harry Cusick turned over to the man who brought her to the place.

Buying Girls from Panders.
"I was satisfied from the evidence that the Cusicks not only conducted a vicious house of prostitution, but that they were actually engaged in commercialized vice in its meanest form, dealing with panders and pimples to obtain the services of girls and to continue their relationship with such panders so as to make the girls dependent on them."

"If there had not been another bit of evidence presented at Springfield, Brennan said when he finished the letter, 'this should have been sufficient for Gov. Small.'

"Small says that I control Norman L. Jones. That is false, of course. I am a good friend; but if he were elected and pardoned a pander I think I should choke him."

"I am told that the Federation of Labor is supporting Small and that the Teachers' federation is cooperating with the labor federation. I say that it isn't possible that the teachers of Chicago will support that kind of a man."

Death Toll of U. S. Ship Blast Mounts to Fourteen

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22.—With the deaths during the last twenty-four hours of six of the injured at the Naval hospital here, the total number of victims of the powder explosion aboard the scout cruiser Trenton Monday was brought to fourteen. At least one more of the six remaining hurt is not expected to recover. Four met death outright when the explosion occurred.

BADGER GERMANS OPPOSE GIVING BOB THEIR VOTES

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 22.—Objecting "most strenuously to the attempt by any society or organization to herd together $300,000 American citizens of German extraction," in the interests of the third party headed by Senator R. M. La Follette, 114 prominent residents of Milwaukee and vicinity of German extraction, at a dinner tonight in the Wisconsin club, formerly the Deutsche club, signed a statement denouncing such action. They denounced President Coolidge and the Republican administration. Many of the signers are members of the Von Steuben society here. The resolutions say:

"The leaders of this dangerous third party movement claim to be great friends of Germany and the Germans, but words come easily to some people. While they have talked others have acted. While they have been liberal with fantastic promises the administration has worked for the welfare of Germany, so that a fund of $99,000,000 gold marks has been provided, which will put Germany back on a sound basis."

WENT AWAY TOGETHER.

Irving Park police were asked yesterday to search for Miss Mildred Smith, 25 years old, 2308 North Western avenue, a fugitive patient from the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane.

Gov. Bryan Says He Finds Hope for Illinois

En route to Ohio, following six speeches in Illinois, Gov. Charles W. Bryan told Democratic western headquarters yesterday that he has found the situation in Illinois "hopeful." He said La Follette had cut severely into Republican strength downtown. And yesterday's decision by the United States Supreme court upholding the provisions of the Clayton act providing for jury trials in injunction cases has turned thousands of labor votes to John W. Davis. It was Mr. Davis and Henry D. Clayton who drew up these particular provisions and Mr. Davis defended the merits of the bill.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Gov. Small has begun to slip. He has reached his peak, is unable to hold it, and is now sliding downward—despite his host of Democratic friends. If the electorate continues their present trend of thought it is certain that Gov. Small cannot get 52 per cent of Chicago's votes, as is indicated by the summary of straws to date, printed above. But he is still going at present at a winning pace.

Judge Norman L. Jones, Democratic candidate for governor, has started upward. The Tribune's south side poll shows that he is grabbing votes away from Small in large numbers. It is a trifle early to estimate how high he will climb, but the poll indicates he is on his way upward. The canvass shows that Small is losing and Jones is gaining ground on the south side.

Small Weak on South Side.

On the west side where the Democrats are in the majority Small polled more than 65 per cent of the straws collected; but on the south side where the Republicans are usually more than half of the voters in presidential elections, Small dropped down to 60 per cent.

So strong was the sentiment on the west side when the last poll of it was taken last week that it seemed that an effort was being made by the Democrats to insure the reelection of the present Republican governor. There, in that Democratic stronghold, Jones, the Democrat, obtained only 34 per cent of the straws gathered, while on the south side where the Republicans predominate, Jones polled 32 per cent.

The percentage of votes polled by each candidate for governor on each side of the city shows the trend of public feeling. Those percentages on a comparative basis are as follows:

Candidate	W. Side	N. Side	E. Side
Small	65.45	60.38	68.11
Jones	34.19	37.09	31.89
La Follette	3.40	2.97	3.78
McDonald	4.97	3.56	3.40

A comparison of the south side gubernatorial poll printed in the Tribune Oct. 4 compared with the one taken this week also gives the impression that Small is losing. In the Oct. 4 poll, 3,412 ballots were collected, of which Gov. Small obtained 3,128; Judge Jones, 992; La Follette, 149, and McDonald, 136.

Actual Number of Votes.

At that time Small received 62.57 per cent of the votes cast as compared with 60.11 per cent this week. Jones on Oct. 4 got 29.98 per cent, this time 32.69 per cent. That also indicates that the wind is blowing against his candidacy.

Where Votes Were Cast.

The South side locations, with one exception, at which the gubernatorial poll was taken are as follows:

Location	Small	Jones	La Follette
State St. and 1st	100	10	1
Cal. St. and 2nd	100	10	1

The friends of the governor expect that he will be trimmed by numerous Republicans who are not pleased with his administration of state affairs. Just what part of Small's handling of Illinois' business appeals to so large a number of Democrats is not known. Democratic activity on behalf of Judge Jones is foreshadowed. When this activity becomes effective the results will show in the straw vote. A presidential poll at the Randolph theater yesterday showed President Calvin Coolidge and Andy Gump tied for first place. Mr. Gump's name was put on the ballot in place of the farmer labor candidate. The results were: Coolidge and Gump 401, Davis 253, La Follette 227.

DAVIS AND BOB TRYING HARD TO BAG N. Y. VOTES

State Seems Safe for Cal
—Governorship in Doubt.

BY ARTHUR BEARS HENNING.

New York, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Both Davis and La Follette will make their last stand in the presidential battle in this state, which already is blundering with the fireworks of the contest over the governorship between Al Smith and Theodore Roosevelt.

Both the Davis and La Follette managers entertain visions of bagging the forty-five electoral votes of New York. If not New Jersey's fourteen, and thereby winning the election.

It is conceivable that the election would be decided in the electoral college and thrown into congress if either Davis or La Follette should carry New York, but New York alone will enable neither of them to win as matters now stand.

Al and Teddy Real Fight.

Moreover, it appears inconceivable to me that either Davis or La Follette can harbor any real expectations of capturing the New York electoral vote. All the evidence indicates that Coolidge will sweep the state by an enormous plurality, and that the contest between Smith and Roosevelt is close.

The confidence of La Follette that he has succeeded in deadlocking the election in any event, and that he now has a promising chance of winning the election in the east, was expressed today by Attorney General Ekern of Wisconsin, treasurer of the third party, in explaining why Battling Bob suddenly abandoned his western speaking tour and headed back toward the middle west to New York.

Says Coolidge Is Blocked.

"We are now assured of enough states in the west to prevent the election of Coolidge," said Mr. Ekern. "The situation is safe there and Senators La Follette and Wheeler are swinging into the east to capture enough states to win."

Despite La Follette's pronouncements on the wickedness of raising and expending large funds for election purposes, Treasurer Ekern, in a formal statement, appeals for contributions without placing any limit thereon. He leaves no doubt that he would accept contributions in individual amounts exceeding any made to the Republican and Democratic campaigns, and in the aggregate amounts surpassing the $2,000,000 total aimed at by the Republican national committee.

"If our friends come forward liberally now, we can put this thing over," is the tribute to the potency of money in elections the La Follette treasurer candidly and unblushingly pays in concluding his appeal. Whether it is wicked to "put this thing over" by liberal campaign contributions apparently depends in the Republican ethics on who and what are put over.

Only Question Is Second Place.

Such as the result on the national ticket in this state is concerned, the only uncertainty remaining is whether La Follette or Davis will run second to Coolidge in the popular vote. The numerous newspaper polls conducted heretofore indicate that the Wisconsin senator will receive an enormous vote in New York City, but a comparatively light vote upstate. President polls made by the Republican county committee and Tammany show the La Follette vote greatly overestimated.

Coolidge and Smith is said to be the combination favored by a large aggregation of Democrats here, demonstrating that Al Smith is the only Democrat who can carry New York and that the party could have come closer to winning with Al as its presidential nominee than with any other.

HEAVY FAILURE ATTACK FATAL.

A. G. Bepko, 79 years old, 5701 West Madison street, died at the county hospital yesterday from heart failure. He was found unconscious on an elevated train yesterday morning.

CONFERENCE TO UNIFY SPEED LAWS PLANNED

Coroner to Call Meeting of Public Officials.

"If this slaughter continues, the mothers of Chicago will have to engage taxicabs to send their children to the grocery store in order that they may return home in safety," Coroner Oscar Wolf said yesterday.

CORONER OSCAR WOLF.

Police Morgan A. Collins and Coroner Oscar Wolf agreed. They agreed, also, that they had tried many other means of discouraging automobile drivers from the continuance of killing off the population at the rate of two a day and that now they would try something else.

"Harmony has accomplished other things—why not this?" they suggested to each other and found they were in accord.

Cooperation Needed.

"What we, the men, women, and, principally, the children of Chicago, need is cooperation among our public officials, and the consent, willing or forced, of the automobilists they are presumed to govern. In order that the walking public may continue to walk and live," Coroner Wolf remarked as a starter.

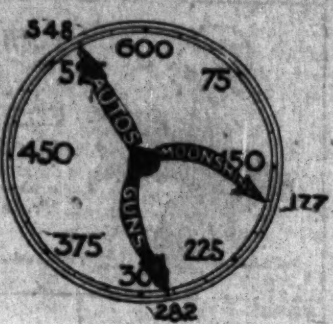

"My job is to hold inquests over the dead ones. I've held 548 inquests over mangled corpses since Jan. 1, victims of conflict of laws, conflict of jurisdiction, conflict of understanding, conflict of perhaps everything but good intention on the part of all."

Chief Collins was heartily in favor of a conference of those public officials whose attendance and exchange of ideas might result in preventing continuance of the condition responsible for the high automobile death rate. No criticism for what's past was intended by either Coroner Wolf or Chief Collins, they explained. Their only aim is to be helpful in the future.

Will Call Conference.

It was understood that Coroner Wolf would call the conference and that it should be a permanent body. Discussion as to who should be invited to participate brought out this tentative list:

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court and those associate judges sitting in police courts, heads of park districts that maintain police forces, Ald. Frank J. Tomczak, chairman of Mayor Dever's safety committee, Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins of the Criminal court and any others it may be deemed advisable to John Later, it was said, some members of the legislature would be included.

KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Samuel Rainey, 45, 725 Christiania avenue, was killed yesterday when he was struck, as he turned away from seeking information from a traffic policeman at Randolph and Clark streets, by an automobile truck driven by William Sauer Jr., 23, 912 North Lincoln street.

The driver, an employee of the Hinchliffe Teaming company, 324 South Racine avenue, was arrested.

Held responsible by Judge William E. Helander for severe injuries received by Florence Vonk, 8, John Kacynski, 10661 Edgebrook avenue, an automobile driver, was sentenced to serve sixty days in the house of correction and fined $25.

In quick succession yesterday two truck drivers whose vehicles were involved in collisions on Tuesday with street cars were discharged in the court of Judge William R. Fetzner. One driver, Frank Black, 21, 2927 North Washburn avenue, had been blamed by police for an accident at Chicago avenue and Racine in which more than twenty persons were severely injured. The other driver, Charles Jones, 330 West 1st street, who was exonerated of blame for the accident at Chicago and Ogden avenues.

HALTS ELECTION OF THE CHICAGO RAILWAYS BOARD

Judge Francis S. Wilson in the Circuit court yesterday enjoined the board of trustees controlling the Chicago Railways company from naming a new board of directors, as was planned for today.

He acted at the request of a group of certificate holders represented by Attorney Henry S. Robbins, who charged the trustees had no right to vote in behalf of the certificate holders, as has been done for over ten years.

The complainants, however, had sought the ousting of the entire board of directors, headed by Henry Blair, president of the company. Blair, Attorney Robbins charged, completely controlled the other directors.

TRIES TO SEIZE CHILDREN FROM WIFE IN COURT

Attempts of Herbert Stuart, 1811 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, a contractor, to seize his two children after Judge Harry A. Lewis had awarded them temporarily to his estranged wife, Mrs. Caroline Stuart of Brooklyn, caused him yesterday, it was charged, to flee down eight flights of stairs in the county building and to the street. There he was caught by Mrs. Stuart's attorney, G. Edwin Mitchell, who obtained the children for his client. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stuart claim the other to be unfit to have custody of the children. Judge Lewis ordered Mrs. Stuart to care for them until today, when he will make a decision.

What determines a man's "preference" for a Watch?

MOST men have a decided preference for a certain make of Automobile which is perhaps due to a belief in their own judgment based on knowledge gained from observation.

But how does a man choose a watch—does he depend on the reputation of the maker—is appearance a factor—of course he wants a "good timekeeper"—but does any man REALLY KNOW what constitutes "VALUE" in a watch?

Spaulding & Co. are glad to feature "Elgins" as one of the WORTHY WATCHES of American manufacture. We know they are exceedingly satisfactory as timekeepers and we know too that each Elgin watch represents the utmost value for the price of that particular watch.

Confidence

For every injury men suffer from others, through excess of confidence and trust, countless injuries are self-inflicted through suspicion and mistrust.

The harm that another is likely to do to any man, against his will, is not to be compared to the injury any man may do to himself through the trio of dark attributes of ignorance—unfounded suspicion, prejudice, hate.

When men nourish suspicion they squander their vitality, both of body and of soul, when they welcome the promptings of prejudice they rob themselves of a share of the best things of life and when they take up hate, whether in secret or banded with others, they assume a burden that grows heavier, day by day, until, from sheer weariness, they abandon it for the fruitless thing it is—lest it crush them.

Almost, if not quite, every great business enterprise, that has endured over a span of time that men call long, has been founded upon, and has prospered through, confidence in, and the confidence of, those to whom it sought to sell its merchandise or service—confidence in honor, intelligence, appreciation and good will.

When, some day, you come to Henrici's, for breakfast, luncheon, dinner or late supper, look into the faces of those about you and ask yourself what other possible foundation than mutual confidence and trust, strictly kept, could have served as the base of the patronage of this institution.

SAYS POLITICS KEEPS DRY LAW WET IN SPOTS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Samuel Untermyer of New York, who is in Washington as counsel before the senate committee investigating political campaign funds, gave out for publication today a statement attacking the Coolidge administration for alleged failure to enforce the prohibition laws.

He included in a letter credited to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement. In this letter it is said that Mrs. Willebrandt is unable to enforce the law on account of the influence of senators and other politicians in keeping unit enforcement officials in office.

Reply to a Critic.

The letter was in reply to a criticism of Mrs. Willebrandt and the dry law enforcement. Answering the critic, Mrs. Willebrandt wrote:

"May I remind you of the fact that I have no administrative authority over the hiring or firing or disciplining of United States attorneys; that is a matter assigned to Assistant Attorney General Holland of this office. Furthermore, no one, except the President of the United States, can remove a United States attorney after his appointment has been made and approved by the United States senate or a political situation prevented any change.

Says Senators Protect Them.

"I have in no uncertain terms called these instances to the attention of the person who is delegated to act. In most cases I have been met with the information that a senator or a political situation prevented any change.

"Until, therefore, the President, who alone can remove or discipline a United States attorney, sees fit to do so, how much more do you think I could accomplish in the name of law enforcement by entering into open public criticism of them? To do so would be but yielding to a childish and unparliamentary impulse and short circuiting any influence in important cases."

The text of the letter shows it was written on department of justice stationery on July 21. It was addressed to Joseph M. Steele, president of the Philadelphia Law Enforcement League of Philadelphia.

In September, during the friction between Mayor Kendrick of Philadelphia and Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, Philadelphia's director of public safety, President Coolidge received a telegram from the Philadelphia Law Enforcement league, which was said to contain a threat that if Gen. Butler was removed the league would publish a letter "from a high government source" charging "corruption" in prohibition enforcement.

Letter Referred to Steele.

President Coolidge referred the telegram to Attorney General Stone, who invited representatives of the league to Washington. It was said here today that on the attorney general's promise to see that prohibition was enforced in Pennsylvania the league decided not to publish the letter.

Mr. Untermyer refers to the declaration of the late President Harding in an annual message that conditions relating to enforcement of federal prohibition law "savor of nationwide scandal," and continues:

"The 'nation wide scandal' still flourishes, and the 'machinery for the enforcement of the law to the full extent of its capacity' [a quotation from remarks of President Coolidge to the conference of governors] has not been and is not being used by the President, although over a year ago he stated to the governor's conference that he would use it."

Admits Writing Letter.

New York, Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt admitted today that she had written the letter declaring that politicians were blocking enforcement.

"I stand by that letter absolutely," she said, "and there is not a word in it that was intended as a reflection on the Coolidge administration."

G. O. P. PLEDGES GIVE JONES HOPE OF BIG VICTORY

Will Devote Remainder of Campaign to Cook.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

With his political hope chest crammed with the pledges of thousands of Republican voters, Norman L. Jones, Democratic candidate for governor, came to Chicago last night to spend the balance of the campaign in Cook county. He ended his downstate campaign Tuesday night at Danville with one of the biggest meetings of this political year in Illinois.

Tired from the strain of twelve weeks of arduous campaigning, Judge Jones expects to spend at least twenty-four hours resting in seclusion before going out on the Cook county firing line for a fight at close quarters with Gov. Len Small.

Confident of Winning.

Cheered by the encouragement he received downstate, especially from Republicans who are in open revolt against Small, Jones entered Cook county confident of the outcome Nov. 4.

"It is now up to the people of Cook county to decide whether they want four years more of Len Small," he said.

Jones said he expects not only to come to the Cook county line with a good lead over Small, but with the largest vote any Democrat ever received in Illinois.

There are plenty of indications that he will be far in the lead of the rest of the Democratic ticket, national and state.

Downstate Democratic leaders are more fearful of Cook county than anything else in the campaign. A general statement of their views is summed up about like this:

"Jones is all right here. The Democratic organization is behind him, and many Republicans are openly supporting him. But how about Cook county? Will the Democrats deliver their full strength to him there. If they do, the battle is won."

Len Jones on Organization.

Gov. Small, astute politician that he is, is relying on organization politics to save him. He hears the rumblings of the Republican rebellion against him, but he knows that it is organization that counts in politics. Small hopes that the Republican vote for Jones, important as it is, will not be sufficiently organized to turn the tide against him. That is what his managers are telling him, at the same time warning him of the danger. On the surface they appear confident.

The women's vote is one of the biggest factors in the Illinois gubernatorial campaign. Many observers believe the women will decide the election.

Don so far as the governorship is concerned. Endorsements by Republican women's clubs have furnished one of the greatest inspirations Judge Jones has received.

Draws Vast Crowds.

Almost without exception and despite numerous adverse conditions Judge Jones has had big meetings on his downstate trips. In many instances he has drawn crowds larger than presidential candidates or a whole galaxy of state candidates.

For the most part he has campaigned alone or with Thomas F. Donovan, candidate for attorney general.

Next to Jones, Donovan has been the most strenuous campaigner on the Democratic ticket. His fame as an orator and a noted lawyer, coupled with his manner of handling political questions without gloves, has made him a drawing card. Donovan closed the campaign for the Democratic state ticket last night by invading Kanebago, Gov. Small's home town, where Donovan formerly lived.

"The campaign which I have made downstate has meant lots of hard work and long jaunts," Judge Jones said, "but it has been inspiring and profitable of encouragement. Republican leaders frequently have pleaded my cause from the same platform. Republican voters have furnished a surprisingly large portion of my audience."

BETTER BRYAN THAN DAWES IS NEW DAVIS CRY

BY DONALD EWING.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, told 16,000 persons here tonight that they would be much better off with Charles W. Bryan as President than with Charles G. Dawes.

The statement was made as a reply to Secretary of War Weeks' statement in New York last night that failure to elect Coolidge would produce the "Menace of Bryan."

Praises "A Man Who—"

"Mr. Weeks," said Mr. Davis, "bases his statements on the theory that the Republicans can't win the election, that the election will go into the house, that the house will be unable to choose a President, and that Bryan will be chosen in the senate as Vice President over Dawes and become President."

"I shouldn't tremble for the destinies of my country if they were placed in the hands of a man who received the largest majority ever given a candidate for governor in Nebraska; a man who reduced taxes $3 1/2 per cent, reduced the number of state employees one-half and saved his people in cost of necessities of life a sum equal to the value of the entire wheat crop of his state.

Vote for Dawes? Not J. W.

"If I were voting in the senate I would vote for this successful governor rather than for the gentleman who entertains the vagaries expressed by Gen. Dawes."

The nominee later in his speech renewed his attack on Dawes as a promoter of "Red Scare," and repeated a statement made at Vincennes in the afternoon that radicalism had resulted through the Harding-Coolidge regime's failure to provide a cure for farmer ills.

Two Youths Bind and Rob Doctor in North Side Office

Dr. P. A. Kuneson, 900 Belmont avenue, was bound hands and feet and gagged by two youths who entered his office about 10 o'clock last night. They robbed him of $11 and a watch valued at $15.

EX-LEGION CHIEF SHOT BY JEALOUS MATE OF TYPIST

Col. J. G. Emery Called

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—"Smiling 'You dog, you're trying to break up my home,' Chedell Simpson, 44, an electrical company salesman, today entered the office of Col. John G. Emery, former national commander of the American Legion, drew a revolver and shot the veteran at Cantigny. Mrs. Simpson, 28, is employed as Emery's stenographer.

Col. Emery sustained a wound in the left shoulder, the same that was pierced by a machine gun bullet over his head. "I'm sorry I didn't kill him," Simpson told arresting officers.

Emery Shrugs at Charge.

The former Legion leader, when taken to a hospital said that he was at a loss to know why Simpson had singled him out for attack. He said that the young woman had been employed at his office only two weeks and that he had never seen her before that time.

"This morning," said Col. Emery, "Mrs. Simpson came into my private office and said her husband was coming up the street, that she was afraid of him, and asked if I could not keep him from seeing her. I told her to stay in my private office. Then I stepped out and met Simpson."

Was Intoxicated.

"My wife works here, doesn't she?" he inquired. I nodded and said, 'Yes, and her work is satisfactory.'

"He then said he wanted to talk to me. I could see he was intoxicated and tried to put him off. Suddenly he put his hand into his pocket, pulled out a gun and shouted, 'You're a dirty dog. You're trying to break up my home.' Then he fired two shots. One struck me."

My shouts attracted employees, who seized him just as he tried to shoot again. That time he was aiming at my heart and he would have killed me if the gun had exploded."

Was Suing for Divorce.

Cruelty and nonsupport are charged against Simpson by his wife in a divorce bill. He was addicted to liquor and cruel when intoxicated, she charged. An injunction was granted Mrs. Simpson last week restraining her husband from visiting her pending the outcome of the divorce suit.

Col. Emery served as Legion commander less than a year, assuming the office shortly after Col. Galbraith was killed in an automobile accident.

U. S. OPENS FIGHT TO KILL DOHENY NAVY OIL LEASES

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 22.—Testimony was started in the United States District court here today in the government suit to cancel the lease and contracts of naval oil reserve properties to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company, of which E. L. Doheny is shareholder, on the ground that Doheny, to gain them, paid $100,000 to Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior.

Commander H. S. Stuart, U. S. N., formerly officer in charge of the naval fuel oil reserves at Washington, was the first witness called by Owen J. Roberts, government prosecutor.

"After it was decided to make the leases," the witness said, "Admiral Griffin and I went to Secretary Fall and told him we had heard the United States was to be given the lease on part of No. 1. We objected to this and said it was not necessary to drill wells. Fall said he had already taken it up with the President and had met with his approval."

Fall said he would get proof of the approval, but did not until later. We left and went to the navy building, and were then summoned back and shown the approval of the President. Shortly after the leases were divided."

COOLIDGE CLAIM OF ECONOMY HIT BY LA FOLLETTE

Bob Says the Record
Shows Contrary.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Centering an attack on President Coolidge in an address here tonight, Senator La Follette declared that the chief executive "saves at the pigst and wastes at the bung hole."

"Coolidge is keen," continued the Wisconsin senator, "to use the economy plea to prevent the nation from discharging its just obligations to its world war veterans and old soldiers of the civil and Spanish wars and to its postal employees, but when it comes to the big wastes and grafts that are draining the public treasury he suddenly goes blind."

Assailing the President from the outset of his prepared speech, Mr. La Follette declared that Mr. Coolidge has "repeatedly declared that economy and tax reduction are the watchwords of his administration."

"These are appealing words," continued the senator. "Every citizen wants to see his government conducted with due regard to economy, and every citizen naturally wants his taxes reduced. Just what does Calvin Coolidge mean when he says he is for economy and in favor of tax reduction?"

"You cannot tell from his speeches. They are made up of platitudes and copybook maxims. They are devoid of concrete proposals, either for economy or for tax reduction."

"It is only when we come to examine his acts that we can tell what kind of economy he is talking about and whose taxes he proposes to reduce."

The economy record of Coolidge consists primarily of his three vetoes—the soldiers' bonus, the increase in pensions, and salary increase of postal employees.

In contrast to these vetoes, the records shows that Coolidge has consistently supported an increase in the military and naval establishments and has taken no action to stop the vast waste and graft in either the veterans' bureau or the shipping board.

"He has shown no concern about the hundreds of millions of tax refunds that are being secretly made under the administration of Secretary Mellon to corporations in which Mellon is interested or to other corporations."

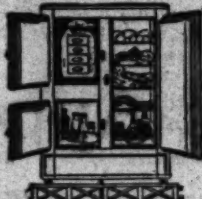

"He has shown no interest whatever in the settlement of the claims of the railroads by the director general, which are grossly extravagant, to say the least."

"Coolidge and the two attorneys have failed to stop the pumping of the navy's oil out of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hill reserves."

BANDITS POSE AS INVESTIGATORS.

Two men posing as special investigators robbed Mrs. Jesse Lind, 1365 East 63d street, yesterday. They appeared at the rear of the apartment and demanded entrance. She would permit. They reached in and grabbed her wrist watch.

OLD HOME FOLKS GIVE GEN. DAWES HAND NEXT HEART

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 22.—The greatest demonstration of his speaking campaign as the Republican candidate for vice president greeted Gen. Charles G. Dawes tonight in the Ohio country where he was born and raised. Republicans of Ohio river cities from Pittsburgh to Marietta, O., the nominee's old home, joined in a rally which crowded Exposition hall at State Fair Grounds park.

Praises Coolidge Courage.
They heard the nominee score the La Follette independent candidacy; warn against a change from "a president of the courage of Calvin Coolidge," and call on the Democrats of the home state of John W. Davis, to beware of attempting "to stand between the battle lines" on the constitutional question he declared had been raised by Senator La Follette. "The reason you have economy in government is because you have a president of the courage of Calvin Coolidge," Gen. Dawes said, speaking of the budget system. "It's not because of the budget law. As soon as you get a President who doesn't maintain his place at the head of the business organization of the government, you will go back to the old era of extravagance. So look out."

80 PER CENT OF CORN ESCAPES FROST BLIGHT

Eighty per cent of the corn crop in Illinois and Indiana was far enough along to escape injury from the frostish prowling of Jack Frost early yesterday morning in the states bordering Lake Michigan, according to reports coming to the weather bureau. Killing frosts were not reported from either of the three outlying stations located at Cairo, Springfield, and Peoria, but C. A. Donnel, weather forecaster at the Chicago bureau, said frost doubtless was heavy enough in some places in Illinois to injure corn not yet matured.

While heavy frosts were reported over most of Illinois, especially in the central and northern part, no frost appeared in or immediately around Chicago.

U. S. AUTHORITY TO DIVERT LAKE WATER OPPOSED

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—The United States government has no right to authorize Illinois, or any other state, to divert waters from the great lakes in the Michigan position in a new bill being prepared by Andrew B. Dougherty, Michigan attorney general, for filing in the United States Supreme court. It is a part of the contest by the lake states to prevent Illinois from withdrawing water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago drainage canal.

The Michigan position against diversion hits New York, the leader of the opposition against the St. Lawrence project. New York state is withdrawing water at Buffalo for canals and power which engineers claim is also affecting the lake levels.

Michigan already has one action against Illinois in the Supreme court, a suit to force Chicago to restrain itself to the 4,100 cubic feet a second permitted it by Gen. Russell A. Alger, when he was secretary of war.

Nearly a Half Century of Service Rendered to Business and to Countless Individuals

NUMBERLESS executives are today confronted with the serious problem of what to do in the case of valued employees who have "lost their grip" through drink or drugs. When such a condition affects trained employees with specialized responsibilities, it frequently involves likewise a definite loss of investment represented by many years of training and large sums of money.

The habit victims themselves seldom realize their extremity, or possess the initiative or moral strength to overcome these conditions, unless it is accomplished through the intervention of interested friends. Kindly guidance and direction is needed to restore them to normal capacity and usefulness.

During the past 45 years, the Keeley Institute at Dwight has stood as the right hand of business, restoring thousands of men and women who have been sent by thoughtful and considerate employers, or other friends, as a certain means of physical regeneration.

In the Keeley treatment there are no unpleasant phases; no nausea or sickness; no deleterious after effects; no restraint or coercion of any description. Quite to the contrary, it is an interval that our patients enjoy and recall with pleasure—a period of relaxation and quiet in the placid environment of a clean, small town. Pure air and water, wholesome food, and the sympathetic as well as scientific aid of an experienced staff are vital factors in bringing about complete recovery and self-reliance.

The Keeley Institute and Treatment need no introduction to the well informed. There is an interesting booklet to be had for the asking, sent in plain sealed envelope; and all correspondence is strictly confidential.

BAN AND HEYDLER NEW DEFENDANTS IN DOLAN SUIT

New York, Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Not only Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, but also Ban Johnson and John A. Heydler, American and National league presidents, respectively, will be made defendants in the slander suit which Cosy Dolan, debarred Giant coach, is planning to bring in the federal courts here.

William J. Fallon, Dolan's counsel, said today that the suit will be directed at the entire advisory council of baseball, made up of Landis and the two league heads. Landis M. O'Connor, secretary to the commissioner and also secretary of the council, may also be made a defendant in the suit, particularly if the attorney should find that O'Connor is treasurer of the council and, in that capacity, makes payment of world's series money to the players.

Basis Suit on Slander.
Dolan intends to sue for damages for alleged slander, for his share of the world's series prize money and for execution by a jury. Fallon admitted that there was no way to force the hands of organized baseball or any one in the game to give Dolan employment, but he said that vindication of the Giant coach, who was barred from an alleged bribe offer to Heinie Sand, Philadelphia National shortstop, would be satisfaction enough.

Even though Dolan should win his suit, Fallon admitted, there is no prospect that he will ever appear in organized baseball again. It was recalled that several of the "Black Sox" of the 1919 world's series scandal were acquitted by a Chicago jury, but Commissioner Landis' ban against them has never been lifted.

New Angle in Case.
Fallon declared today that Dolan, in his hearing before Landis, denied positively the story of Jimmy O'Connell charging the coach with being one of the four others involved in alleged attempt at bribery. The attorney's statement presented a new angle in the case, for up to this time, Dolan's defense had been that his "I don't remember" was merely his confused way of saying "No."

From Dolan the baseball world is to hear tomorrow what, if any, he played in the alleged conspiracy to bribe Sand.

Of how much detail that Dolan "couldn't remember" when examined by Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis soon after the bribe offer was reported but has since recollected there was no intimation when attorney Fallon let it be known late today that his client would appear in the office of his counsel tomorrow afternoon and recite his version of the case.

Ask $100,000 Damage.
The blacklisted coach also is to set forth in his own way his reasons for instituting the suit for $100,000 damages, which Fallon expects to file in federal court here early in next week.

The word somehow was circulated today in New York's baseball writing set that Dolan was to make a statement in Fallon's office this afternoon, and for a time the noted criminal lawyer and sometime attorney for Charles A. Stoneham, Giants' owner, was besieged by news mongers. Dolan was not on hand, however, and the lawyer said no statement or interview had been contemplated. He agreed, however, to have the banished veteran in his office tomorrow afternoon and to have him state his answers to the commissioner's accusations.

You will be at liberty to ask him any and all questions," said Fallon, and I'm quite sure he will be very frank with you."

Nearly Come to Blows.
Fallon asserted today that Dolan and the commissioner had "nearly come to blows" during the course of the first hearing. According to the attorney, Dolan, when he realized that a serious charge was being made against him, became angry and shouted at Landis. "Do you mean to insinuate that I am a crook?"

Previous to this, Fallon said, Commissioner Landis had asked Dolan general questions as to his actions on the day of the alleged bribe offer, and to each question Dolan, who was flustered, had answered, "I don't remember."

SOX AND GIANTS PLAY IN LIVERPOOL TODAY

BY LORRIMORE HAMMOND.
[Chicago Tribune Special Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]
LIVERPOOL, England, Oct. 22.—Landing here at 8 o'clock this morning, the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox spent the first day in paying homage to British sport. The members of the two famous baseball teams attended the football match this afternoon between England and Ireland.

Even the conservative English sun apparently could not withstand the temptation to come out of its splendid isolation and take a peep at the celebrated players, as the first bright day in Liverpool has seen in two weeks of the 1919 world's series scandal were greeted by the visiting athletes as two jugs escorted the Canadian Pacific liner, Mount Royal, to its pier.

Commy Looks 'Em Over.
It is no star party, this second baseball tour of Europe, for wives and families form 50 per cent of the total company. Under the efficient general management of John McGraw, manager of the Giants, and John Evers, manager of the White Sox, events moved smoothly from start to finish. The fine weather made the voyage a delightful rest to the men, who have just been through what veterans declare was the toughest season on record.

Wrapped in a heavy polo coat and still walking with a cane as the result of a knee illness and an operation, Charles Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, went on deck for a moment to see "his boys" frolic ashore. It was rumored that Comiskey may remain several months at some continental club, but he talks anxiety of going back with the team in November to be on hand for the opening of the spring season.

Newlyweds in Party.
He is the finest man in baseball, one of the real old timers, said Tom Trautman, the Giants' pitcher. He has given the game long and faithful devotion, and it owes him a debt it can never repay."

The most exciting event of the day was a struggle to get the newly married Giant pitcher, Walter Hunsinger, and his bride off the boat without their passports. It looked for a time as if they would have to spend the rest of their honeymoon in being deported. Hunsinger explained that he had been too busy filling in with Miss Margaret Dunn of Philadelphia, then proposing and then attending to a license, wedding ring and other details of matrimony to think about such trifles as passports.

After a hurried exchange of radio messages with New York, the Liverpool umpires decided to let Walter stay in the ball game on emergency papers and to keep his blushing bride with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunsinger are not the only pair of newlyweds in the party. Ross Young, the Giants' right fielder, also walked up the Mount Royal gangplank a week ago, straight from the States.

Sir Thomas Back in U. S. with Another Challenge

New York, Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Sir Thomas Lipton has not given up hope of lifting the America's cup in the international yacht races. He arrived today on board the United States line steamer, and announced his intention of being a contender for the cup two years hence, when the yacht that he hopes will carry his colors to victory will be ready for the race.

The veteran (U. S. and France) yachtsman, with a complexion like a schoolboy and as chipper as a cricket, although he is well past 70, was given a noisy and demonstrative welcome to New York. The yacht, Florida, owned by Baron Collier, and the police boat G-14, with Police Commissioner Enright and a party of notables, were alongside the Leviathan as early as 9 o'clock.

FRANK CHANCE ESTATE $300,000; WILL PROBATED

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—The estate of the late Frank Chance amounted to $350,000 and $300,000, according to Karl Pankake, brother-in-law of the dead baseball leader, today.

Chance's will, leaving $40,000 in various stocks to Mrs. Edith Chance as administratrix, was admitted to probate on Tuesday. Pankake explained today that the St. Maxon apartment building in Los Angeles, a $25,000 mortgage on a business block in Glendale, Cal., cash lots in California, and some Chicago real estate, was worth considerably more than $200,000, and all went to Mrs. Chance. This property and other holdings had been made over to Mrs. Chance prior to Frank's death.

Augie Lets Down a Bit.

Augie had to play fully 40 per cent of his shots by bridging on the rails. Even allowing for the safety play, Hoppe's work was not so deadly accurate as in the first three blocks.

Hoppe took the lead in the night session, 15 to 4, and following with a count of 6 in the twentieth inning led, 22 to 11. For ten innings after that Augie did not score, so that Hoppe led, 31 to 11, in 29 innings.

It looked like another one sided block, but Augie tightened his defense so that Willie made only 3 points in 19 innings. Augie picked up some points, but could get nothing higher than a 3.

After a long spell of comparative idleness Hoppe ran 5, and it looked as if he might make up some of his lost ground. Hoppe, however, got going again, and scoring 7 points in his last five innings, reached his complement of 200 points.

This, after a slow start, gave him 31 points in 12 innings and a lead of 21 to 4. After that it was more even, Kleckhefer making 24 points while Willie made 23. Hoppe played three safety shots and Kleckhefer none.

Despite his big lead Hoppe did not hesitate to play safe at night when he

A Man's Pipe for a Man's Man

Here's a he-man pipe—sturdily shaped, that gives a cooler, sweeter smoke. General Dawes was among the first to smoke it and there's a reason why the Lyon won General Dawes' approval. Others copy the shape but they can't copy the principle—twenty inches of smoke channel in a five and a half inch pipe. The smoke loses its oil, ammonia and nicotine, and there's no vile sludge that is common in other pipes. No tongue-biting breaking-in with a Lyon. These puffs!—and you'll give three cheers for the best smoke you've ever known.

See your dealer and if he hasn't a Lyon Pipe to sell you, write today to Hargrath and Sons, Weigher Building, Chicago. You need neither money, just pay the postage $4.00 and a few cents postage on delivery.

Motordom Tod by J. L. JENKINS

TWO Illinois trail fans have rallied round to correct an error in the report concerning the Jacksonville-Quincy road published in this type cylinder last Tuesday. Both Chester E. Newton, 4431 North Campbell avenue, and R. A. Hartman of Jacksonville, write that the report on paving between the two points is incorrect. This report should have read "oiled road" instead of "paved road"—a vastly different footing in wet weather.

The recommended route is old and improved between Jacksonville and Merceda West of Merceda is three miles of dirt which is newly graded, and elogi dirt into Mount Sterling where the pavement is followed into Quincy.

Rupo Meyer, manager of the Illinois Automobile club, left yesterday for Philadelphia where the executive committee of the National Motordom association is meeting to discuss a new national safety campaign, uniform traffic rules and good roads.

BY JOE DAVIS.
At the half-way mark of their 400 point three cushion match, Willie Hoppe is leading Augie Kleckhefer, 200 to 118, having scored those points in 191 innings.

The ballgame champion, showing the same fine speed he displayed in the first two blocks, yesterday won the afternoon session, 50 to 29, in 42 innings, getting a high run of 14, and took the night block, 50 to 25, in 64 innings.

Augie Lacks Speed.
It was the hope of the local fans that Kleckhefer would show some of the speed of which he is capable, but he does not take long to discover that Hoppe is just as much a strategist at three cushions as Jake Schaefer and Walker Cochran know him to be at billiards.

Hoppe should be given a position in the speeders' court, as he is an excellent judge of that commodity.

Hoppe's accuracy in the afternoon again was remarkable, his high run of 14 in the twelfth inning being made without the assistance of a miss. He was known to be a sure count on his fifteenth shot.

This, after a slow start, gave him 31 points in 12 innings and a lead of 21 to 4. After that it was more even, Kleckhefer making 24 points while Willie made 23. Hoppe played three safety shots and Kleckhefer none.

ONWENTSIAS STABLES NEARING COMPLETION

Work on the Onwentsia club stables, which were destroyed by fire in June, is well under way, and the new $75,000 structure probably will be completed by the end of the year.

In order to finance the work, a special assessment of $100 was levied against regular, special, and life members, and $50 against nonresident women, army, navy, university, and consular members, payable Dec. 1, 1924. Of this amount 60 per cent will go toward the stables fund and the balance of 40 per cent toward the club deficit in the current year.

The inaugural Good Fellowship tournament today at Olympia fields will be the last competitive event of the season at the club. The Fellowship dinner will be held tonight in the dining room of the new $750,000 clubhouse. President Charles M. Sandler will preside and will present the trophies won during the season.

Rumors were rife yesterday around the golf links that Cyril H. Toller, the famous British amateur player, might locate permanently in Chicago. None of the rumors could be confirmed. Toller is visiting Robert Lee in a memorable thirty-seven hole final of the British amateur championship tournament.

The women's auxiliary at the Beverly Country club elected Mrs. Thomas Henderson as president for 1925. Mrs. Henderson is popular with the players and should prove an efficient leader.

BOOMS GRANGE FIELD

FOUR HUNDRED business men yesterday signed a petition in Wheaton, Ill., that the new athletic field, now under construction with the new high school, be named "Grange field." Judge F. L. Rathle was one of the first to sign the petition.

That the result of the annual struggle between Chicago and Ohio State in Columbus on Saturday afternoon will have an important bearing on the western conference football championship may be gathered from the comments of the coaches.

EVANSTON BOY PLAYS AGAINST N. U. ELEVEN

AN EVANSTON boy will return to his home town Saturday with the purpose of helping his school's football team, the Evanston Aggies, trim Northwestern in the only local major grid game scheduled for the day.

In preparing to entertain the East Lansing gridders, the Purple put in a long afternoon of hard work which continued long after dark and which brought the ghost balls and bare lights into play.

Coach Thielthorn drilled his men doubly hard in an effort to increase the offensive qualities of his men, since the Aggies are reported to have a great defense outfit that held the University of Michigan to three first downs.

Varsity Scrimmages Fresh.

Just before dark the varsity and freshmen hooked up in a scrimmage in which the Purple warriors were given the ball most of the time.

After they had milled about in midfield, the Purple coach had the fresh defend their goal on the 1 yard line.

Then the regulars were sent through on varied backs, with Wienecke and Baker doing the plunging.

Line men came in for a session in going down after the back field men, who were given the ball most of the time.

The line men, with the exception of Cohen, had hard time in turning the ball carriers inside, and displeased the coaches with the work.

AGGIES LOSE QUARTER

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Dick Lyman, quarterback, may be unable to pilot the Aggies in the Northwestern game Saturday.

The injury Lyman received in the Michigan game has not responded to treatment as it was expected and it is more than probable that the fast little quarterback will be in no condition to handle the team even if he again gets back in the game.

Should Lyman be compelled to remain out of the lineup Saturday it is probable that Richards and Lotter will fill the halfback jobs with Neller at full.

This will have a tendency to strengthen the punting but it will also weaken the offensive of the Aggies around the ends and through the line.

Carl Schultz is recovering from his injuries and with Robinson will play the flanks. Haskins and probably Spelkerns will occupy the tackles with Captain Hultman and Hackett at guard and Eckerman center.

Oak Park Led to Lead

Williams Swim Team

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Charles B. Motter of Oak Park, Ill., a member of the senior class, today was elected captain of the Williams Varsity Swimming team for the coming season.

Motter succeeds Eric G. Lillencrants of Berkeley, Cal., who did not return to college this fall.

Motter holds the college record for the 40 yard swim and has been a consistent point winner for the Purple in the dashes for the last two years.

Western Skating Board

to Hold Meeting Tomorrow

A meeting of the board of control of the Western Skating association will be held at 2312 West North avenue tomorrow night.

President Frank Kalteux announced last night. Delegates to the annual meeting of the International Skating union, which will be held in New York next month, will be selected.

ENGLISH TRIM IRISH.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 22.—[Special.]—A match between the Liverpool and the Irish association football teams will be played at Anfield tomorrow night.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

MICHIGAN, Mich., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Capt. Stager called signals again today in practice, and even though Rockwell's knee permits him to play against the Badgers Saturday he will likely play at half back and not quarter.

Neither Rockwell nor Parker, Friedman may get the call. "Hurry Up" had the Cleveland star booting the ball today, preparatory to using him as a punter, perhaps Saturday.

Madsen and Flora are slated to play the places of the regulars, Grube and Marion. The shakeup in the whole team has had a startling effect on the Wolverines, who are working tooth and nail to get a combination that will win over Coach Ryan's men.

YALE.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Yale's scrimmage preparation for the Brown game today reached its height when the varsity and freshmen in a routine practice game, in which the varsity attack managed to penetrate the 1923 line for two touchdowns.

The freshmen held the varsity on down at the two yard line, but at no time invaded the varsity territory. The varsity played from Capt. Leiver, who watched game from the line, and without Allen. Though two players are not injured, but were given a rest.

PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Tadling no changes on injuries, Princeton today held its first varsity from scrimmage and declared they would not battle with the scrubs before the Notre Dame game.

He gave the team a long dummy scrimmage and a defensive drill against the pass formation of the Rockne outfit. Particular attention was given to the kicking game. The improvement of Slagle and Dignan in this department has been so marked that it is probable the Tigers will play a punt game against Notre Dame in an attempt to secure the breaks.

PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—With a number of men still injured, as a result of Purdue's recent game with Northwestern, Coach Jimmy Phelan continued the highest kind of drill in the Boilermaker camp this afternoon, although some of the reserve players met the freshmen in a scrimmage.

The Purdue center has been drilling the Boilermaker eleven in new plays and formations for the annual scrap with the Maroons on Nov. 1. It is expected that the varsity will see serious action the latter part of this week.

Har, Smiley, Monroe, Deschamps and Bolton will remain on the list of the injured.

RICHARDS AND HUNTER ON WAY TO MEXICAN NET

New York, Oct. 22.—Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, Olympic champions, who probably have established a new record for international competition this year, now are on their way to Mexico to take part in the national tournament there.

Richards won the Mexican singles title last year, defeating Manuel Lopez, spectacular spindler, in the finals.

Princeton and Navy to Play Again Next Season

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Princeton and the Naval academy will play again next year, the game to take place at Annapolis and be the big home game for the midshipmen.

This was announced here today.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—Bill Spaulding began shaking up his lineup today, as the varsity failed to show much improvement after two hard scrimmages against the freshmen.

The best men on the team today were the line, which was expected to prove about as interesting as the Butler game. Jimmy Ashmore is pointing his men for the Iowa game, which may be a little tougher than is expected by most fans.

OHIO STATE.

Columbus, O., Oct. 22.—[Special.]—The Ohio State freshman football squad was called into action against the varsity grid practice today. The best men on the team today were the line, which was expected to prove about as interesting as the Butler game.

Jimmy Ashmore is pointing his men for the Iowa game, which may be a little tougher than is expected by most fans.

MAROONS TOIL HARD TO BREAK OHIO PASSES

Chicago regulars spent another afternoon yesterday learning about Ohio State's new passing game.

The regulars were drilled in the Lincoln room of the City club, 115 Plymouth court. An effort also will be made to time in on KDKA broadcasting station in Pittsburgh, which is to broadcast play by play returns of the game.

There was the usual amount of work with the punters, for Coach Stagg is determined that he will not kick the game away if it can be prevented by work. There has been a lot of improvement lately, and now the effort is to make the men sure on every kick. The usual secret signal practice finished up the day's work.

May Start New Full Back.

McKinney, one of the fastest backs on the squad, is out for a few days because of illness in his family. Kernwein is not able to stand any heavy scrimmaging, and it is likely that Caruso, who started last week, will be used again at left half. No one has much idea as to the identity of the full back, for Stagg wants a sure defensive man for the game. Gordon, who has been playing better football every week, may be a surprise starter.

With Hollister back, the line is in fact, and there is not much worry about what Ohio can do through the line. The long Buckeye passes are the chief fear of Coach Stagg, and the freshmen used little else last night.

Host of Fans to Go.

Several thousand are expected to make the trip from Chicago, taking advantage of the special half fare rate on the Pennsylvania. Tickets in the Chicago section of the stadium are on sale at Marshall Field's, Spaulding's, and the Midway stadium office.

Society Notables to Make Success of World Flight Fete

BY PANDORA.

A long and impressive list of names has just reached my desk, sent by Capt. Van Alstyne of the Army and Navy Club. It contains the names of the business and debutante whose services have been promised for the World Flight celebration to be given on the evening of Nov. 9 at the Auditorium theatre, under the auspices of the Army and Navy Club. The illustrious Van Alstyne heads the committee in charge of the affair.

Under the heading of patronesses, I find some thirty-four names, a veritable list of the leading social, political, and military ladies of our town, stretching alphabetically from Mrs. John B. H. to Mrs. William McIlwain Thompson.

As for the debutantes, so busy and important just now in their first year really out in society, thirteen of them have already accepted delightedly the invitation to help make the evening a success, and I understand that they are likely to grow in the next fortnight. They are, so far: Katherine and Nancy Anderson, Mary Anna Beck with Judith Boddie, Dorothy Curtis, Margaret Gallery, Emilie Hoyt, Marie Morse, Sarane Otis, Elsie Requa, Robert Richardson, Emily Scott, and Miss Wright.

Very little Katherine Frost Reed, normally, if you please, Mrs. William Reed, is in charge of this bouquet of names, and will act as hostess to them this afternoon at a tea given at and by the Army and Navy Club, the plans may be made and duties assigned.

The Blouse Mode of Today Is Unsettled

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The blouse of this autumn has no settled policy. It may be a long tunic which is either formal or tailored. It may be the familiar hip length creation terminating in a band, and it may be a model with a peplum. And these three types represent only a few of present day vagaries of the blouse. The movies in his series of striking illustrations included the procession of the great Juggernaut car. "The lecture," "Ceylon and Singapore," will be repeated tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon.

As is usually the case, white crepe de chine is in the ascendency for tailored blouses. Models of this sort are usually finished with fine drawwork or lace with some version of the plait. Among the latter may be mentioned bands of minute tucks inset in the fabric. Of course, the success of this treatment depends largely upon the originality displayed in the disposition of such bands.

Today we are showing the sort of simple little blouse which so many women are wearing nowadays. Made of crepe de chine in either white or color, it relies largely upon the activities of a scarf collar. However, fine tucks at the shoulder seam and on the sleeves contribute an appreciable note of smartness.

Be it mentioned also that this same blouse, if made of the skirt fabric, will create at your best a jumper frock which would be especially recommended for the college girl.

Strange things have been happening in hosiery

As every observant girl and woman knows, there never was a time when it was so easy to find low prices on hosiery as it is today. But the kind of hosiery it is—that's another matter.

Temptation is always strong when competition is keen—so it is gratifying to find that the makers of Everwear Hosiery have taken a firm stand in favor of quality and a full measure of materials. They can't afford to compromise the Everwear reputation.

You find, not 26 inches mechanically stretched to 28 inches but a full, natural 28 inches in Everwear Silk Stockings. You find a better grade of silk than is necessary. You should see the new Everwear Fall and Winter shades, if you would know what is ultra-fashionable this season. Pure, wholesome dyes that hold their original color tones through frequent washings.

Dealers who want you to have hosiery satisfaction are showing these beautiful, comfortable Everwear Silk Stockings with confidence and pride. Full-fashioned, $1.50, $1.95, $2.75; semi-fashioned, 75c to $1.25. The Everwear Hosiery Co., Milwaukee, Wis.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"I know a little boy who will get in trouble if he doesn't put his blocks away and go to bed as he has been told." I said sternly to Bobby on the floor. "O, I know him, too," said the unperturbed Bobby, "but he doesn't sink it is him." I reprimanded my son for bad behavior, and threatened to call in a policeman. He haughtily answered, "I should worry; me and the cop is friends." Margaret had just announced the arrival of a fifth brother. "Five brothers?" I said, "Isn't that fine?" "I don't see anything fine about it—just a lot more shirts in the washing." K. R. A.

MRS. ANNA M. IT IS POSSIBLE to straighten a crossed eye by being properly fitted to glasses, if the eye is but slightly crossed. It would be well for you to put yourself in the hands of a physician, and be guided by his advice. After a careful examination he will know just what should be done.

WORRIED: TO WASH THE FACE in hot water is bad for the skin—unless you follow it immediately with a cold rinse and an ice rub. Warm water, just warm enough to clean the face thoroughly, might well be substituted. The hot water has just the effect you describe. It opens the pores and in time causes aggravated cases of enlarged pores. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for my pamphlet on care of the complexion.

A Smart Fall Outfit

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We toured Fifth avenue this week for the weekly assortment of well dressed men. The dapper person of the drawing today, who carries on his arm a light topcoat, was caught at Fifth avenue and 55th street. He was wearing a smart two button suit of brown with white stripes. His shirt was brown with a plaid bosom and self-collar, and his tie was a brown and tan striped four-in-hand. He wore a fawn colored felt hat and tan shoes, and carried a topcoat of light brown with darker brown overplaid. A touch of color breaking up this symphony in brown and tan was a lavender handkerchief in the breast pocket.

Fifth Avenue and 52d Street.

Here we jotted down in our note book the attire of a well turned out young man who used gray as the foundation of his color scheme. His suit was an oxford gray. With it he combined a white shirt, with a soft attached collar, a black and white checked four-in-hand, and a pearl gray hat with black band. A green bordered handkerchief relieved the black and white effect of this outfit.

Fifth Avenue and 49th Street.

At this corner we noted a man with a gray suit that was striped with an extremely dark red. He wore with this a light gray shirt and a tie of dark gray with a dark red figure. He wore a topcoat of medium gray.

WHEAT MOVES UP ON HEAVY BUYING; CORN IS EASIER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While European buyers of cash wheat seem to have more than sufficient grain coming to them at present, the demand for forward shipment contracts unabated and sales for the day in all positions were estimated at 2,000,000 to 2,250,000 bu, largely domestic. The removal of hedges against the close was 1/4% higher. Winnipeg, gained 1/4% to 1/2%, the latter on October, although little Canadian grain is being sold at the present time.

Corn showed a distinctly heavy under-tone, the excellent weather conditions reflecting everything else, and the market was 1/4% lower. Oats were off 1/4% in sympathy with corn, while rye declined 1/4%. In sympathy with corn, while rye declined 1/4%, the break in the latter grain being in the face of bul-lish statistics.

Wheat Market Unsettled.

To a large extent the erratic action of the wheat market of late is due to a falling off in outside demand, leaving it in a position to be readily influenced by any good buying or selling. Prices have a range of 1/8% for the day, with the latter grain being in the face of bul-lish statistics at intermediate figures, December being $1.47 1/2, May at $1.51 1/2, and July at $1.53 1/2. America exported 3,478,000 bu of wheat and flour in September, and averaged the total for the first three months of the season to about 10,000,000 bu.

Corn Market Aids Trend.

A lack of general speculative interest is apparent in corn and while the local demand made several efforts to advance prices in sympathy with wheat, the advances for the day were lower. December closed at $1.07 1/2, May at $1.09 1/2, and July at $1.10. Oats held within a range of less than 1c and the market was influenced largely by the action of corn. The seaboard reported inquiries from four to five countries in Europe, but no sales were claimed.

Profit taking was on in rye, and while there was fair buying at times the market closed lower toward the bottom.
World's situation is regarded as bullish, but the export demand was slow, with sales of only 100,000 bu claimed for the day.

Provisions Close Lower.

Provisions prices were on the downside as the result of a letup in the cash demand and the weakness in hogs and at the last had set off 15¢ to 20¢, while ribs were 25¢ higher to 1c lower,
and bellies unchanged to 25¢ lower.
Packing of hogs in the west for the season to date as compiled by the Price
Current-Grain Reporter is 23,233,000 against 25,135,000 last year. Prices fol-

Cities' Big Wet V
Cut by Farmer
BULLETIN.
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 24.—(Associated Press.)—At an hour this morning the major favor of retention of the temperance act stood at 24,922, 5,921 subelection districts of 7,322 reporting. The vote in of government control was 45 in favor of present law, 475, 844,408.
For government control, 441,351. This is a dry majority of 2,052, 972 polling places to report.
Farmers Blast Wets' Hopes.
At midnight the final hopes of wets went glimmering when their tally, which at one time had reached more than 70,000, finally faded under the trickle of returns from the counties where dry majorities of the two hundred gradually reduced the lead to the vanishing point. Started to pile up a vote in support of the continuation of prohibition. Some of the 972 polling places to report are in remote parts of the province and will not be heard until late Friday. The dry vote of majority may go as high as 2, which is a considerable reduction of the vote of 467,000 cast for the wets in the 1919.
Cities All Go Wet.
The provincial government is with an awkward position as the result of the referendum. Toronto, Ontario, voted wet by the actual majority of 47,000. Hamilton, second largest city in Ontario, voted by 13,000. The wet majority in Ottawa and London were 12,000 each.
In Windsor, Niagara Falls, Sault Ste. Marie, and all the larger towns the United States frontier the wets were overwhelming. No town of any industrial importance refused a dry vote, the present prohibition sustained together by some of the farmers, their wives and daughters.
May Bring Local Option.
Members of the government party to the vote made called referendum the possibility of introducing a form of local option, and the divergence between urban and Ontario shown in the vote will likely launch a move for some legislation. It will be difficult to force a prohibitory law in cities in Toronto and Hamilton, where the wets vote is opposed beyond limits to such restraint.
The government party is believed to have immediately submitted a party to ascertain whether they were supported in producing before legislature some law to give cities and towns the liquor legislation which they have voted.
The Ontario temperance act adopted as a war measure in the provincial elections in 1919 passed by a majority of 407,000 restricts liquor sales to those of physicians' prescriptions.
May Take Official Count.
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 23.—(Special close.) The vote now running government control of the province in Ontario that the official count is made tomorrow in the province. The vote women and from the great rural areas vied with the cities in the battle.
First of the nine provinces to have declared for sale of liquor under government control. The wets constitute an unbroken line from Ontario from the west to the eastern boundary, taking in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Ontario.
Within the last fifteen months provinces have joined the "wets." They are Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Ontario. The wets which are Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and
